WE NOMINATE

Harold Willis Dodds, one of this country's most respected educators and a full-time Princetonian for nearly 35 years, who next week—some 20 months following his retirement from the presidency of Princeton University—will return to the campus spotlight as Stafford Little Lecturer. Now at the halfway mark in the first comprehensive study ever undertaken of the office of college and university president, the 69-year-old educational statesman will devote three public lectures to the "Governance of Universities," considering in turn "The Trustees", "The President" and "The Faculty".

Described by a fellow university president as "one of higher education's most courageous, understanding and tireless spokesman," Dodds has had little time for retirement. In midsummer of 1957, weeks after he had completed 24 years in the Nassau Hall pilothouse, he was en route to Australia as the first educator ever to be invited from outside of the British Commonwealth to discuss educational problems with the vice-chancellors of the Australian universities. While illness curtailed the tour "Down Under," he resumed full-time work a year ago and launched his two-year analysis of the American college presidency.

To this project, which is being carried forward with support from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Dodds brought not only his service as a president but also his experience as a government consultant and official and as a specialist in political science. It is his belief, on the basis of progress achieved in public and business administration, that educational administration will gain substantially from systematic studies of the increasingly complex responsibilities assumed by the heads of American educational institutions.

The son of a noted Presbyterian minister and teacher, and at his induction in 1933 the youngest Princeton President in 175 years, Dodds over the course of a quarter-century translated into actuality many of the visions Woodrow Wilson had held for Princeton in the early 1900's. Dodds' emphasis on individual excellence, as opposed to growth in numbers, and his concern for intellectual achievement, rather than for monuments of stone and mortar catapaulted Princeton into the front rank of American universities and also laid the groundwork for the Princeton Community's post-World War II development as one of the research centers of the Western World.

A single four-year span, 1949-1953, what author-teacher Carlos Baker called the "Fifth Quadrennium" of the Dodds' era, is indicative of his accomplishments. The University developed the 825-acre James Forrestal Research Center, probably its most far-reaching step since Wilson installed the preceptorial system; the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program (now the Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, 32 Nassau Street) moved onto the national scene; the Wilson School of Public Affairs acquired permanent headquarters; and the Council of the Humanities, currently assaying the status of American scholarship in the humanities, became a reality.

For his rare understanding of the unique mixture that is both Princeton Town and Princeton Gown; for now-strengthening an unusual Gown-Town lecture tradition, which traces its origins back to annual lectures by President Cleveland; he is our nominee for Tax Report for 1959. Property owners in Princeton Borough and Township (municipalities where better than 50 per cent of the population own their own homes) were told this week what they could expect to pay in taxes. In a time of creeping inflation, of steadily mounting costs, of logical refusal on the part of Princeton's two governing bodies to seek additional revenue by attracting industrial rateables, the report was surprisingly satisfactory.

In the Borough: A three-point increase, with a six-point rise for school purposes partially offset by a three-point drop in the Borough's own rate. With Mercer County's rate (the "third third" in the component parts which make up the over-all figure) expected to remain unchanged, Borough taxpayers will pay at the rate of $5.87 per hundred dollars of assessed valuation.

Borough officials were content over the fact that they had effected the second straight decrease in the rate for local purposes (down from 1.72 two years ago to 1.68 last year and now to 1.65) while granting an "across-the-board" salary increase to all full-time personnel of approximately $200. Rateables were up only in negligible fashion — some $80,000, sharp in contrast to Princeton Township's whopping $5,100,000 jump — but parking meter receipts continued to increase as a major source of revenue.

In the Township: a net increase of 24 points, boosting the total rate from $1.96 to $2.20 — a request to the taxpayer's pocketbook for an additional 12 per cent. With both the county and the township budgets hold the line, the 24-point jump was purely the anticipated growth factor of the municipality's school population. It will cost township taxpayers 12 per cent more to educate their children in 1959.

(The discrepancy between the two rates is traceable to the fact that whereas both municipalities underwent complete reassessment of property values two years ago, the Township taxes on a basis of 100 per cent of true value and the Borough at 33 percent. On a comparable level, therefore, the Township would have a rate of 6.60 compared to the Borough's 5.87.

Growing Pains. Township taxpayers were told in a statement from their governing body that the amount needed for municipal operation during the next 12 months will be $335,191 — some $25,000 more than a year ago. "The committee has found it possible to reduce only a few items," the accompanying statement declared, whereas five requiring sizeable increases "to keep pace with the growth of the Township" were listed.

Cited were: Salary and wage increases for all departments, totalling $18,000.

Personnel additions (two patrolmen, one secretary, additional school police and a full-time staff member for Health and Welfare) — $10,500.

A contribution of 50 percent of the cost of hospitalization and medical-surgical insurance for all full-time personnel — $2700.

The Old Oil

It was a routine job of sealing loose manhole covers. The one in question was in front of South's Garage on Nassau Street. Suddenly, Borough workers smelled gasoline. They peered into an old manhole 14 feet deep, and found nine inches of gasoline floating calmly on top of eight feet of water.

That was last Friday. The Nassau Oil Company, hastily called, pumped away the gasoline and Borough engineers put the lid back on. The hole was, according to Robert Clayton of South's, an abandoned fire cistern that dated back to the days before hydrants—at least 76 years ago. It's so old that it does not exist on any Borough map.

On Saturday, Borough workers sniffed again. More gasoline. Two more inches pumped away. The cistern was sealed and Foamite sprayed over the top to forestall fire. By Monday, two more inches had accumulated. This time, the cistern was filled with 61 tons of sand and sealed up for good. Fire engines stood by during all operations, just in case.

Who foots the bill? Standard Oil of New Jersey, from whose pumps the gasoline flowed.

Public Assistance (welfare aid) increased by $6000.

Increased payments to the Borough for services rendered in fire protection, civil defense, sewer operation, police radio and library services — $12,180.

Township residents were further informed that total appropriations included $30,000 more ($140,385 total) as a reserve for uncollected taxes than the 1958 figure. Tax assessment appeals still pending were listed as the major factor.

"The budget," said the Committee in down-to-earth fashion, "is at least as tight as that of 1958, when it was possible to transfer to surplus at year's end only $4400."

Borough taxpayers may speak for their pocketbooks at a public hearing on March 19, with the following night set for a similar public hearing in Township Hall. On either occasion, it was unlikely that a voice would be raised — the public's way of agreeing that a job has been well done.

PERSONALITIES

Stanley Woodward, 14 East Stanworth Drive, long-time (29 years) sports writer who last week went full cycle when he returned to the desk where he had started at the New York Herald Tribune. The Trib's sports editor for a decade beginning in 1938 (interrupted by war-time coverage by glider with the 101st Airborne Division in Europe and by carrier with Task Force 58 in the Pacific), Mr. Woodward has spent the years prior to his return to New York producing his colorful, incisive, columns for The Miami News and The Newark Star-Ledger.

Mrs. Herbert McAneny, 67 Grover Avenue, charter member of the Community Players and director of a number of the 27-year old dramatic organization's most appealing presentations, who has stepped into the Players' demanding jack-of-all-trades position — the presidency. (See News of the Theatres, page 6.)

Dr. Frank B. Stover, 310 Jefferson Road, one-time teacher at Princeton High School and now Assistant Commissioner of Education in New Jersey, who in April will become superintendent of schools in fast-growing Bloomfield. In relinquishing the State post he has held for the past five years, Dr. Stover drew praise from his boss (Commissioner Frederick M. Raubinger, 55 Battle Road) as "one of the outstanding leaders of public education in New Jersey."

ROUNDUP

HONOR ROLL. One of the most heart-warming aspects of this Valentine's weekend is the way that Princeton people came forward to help "Tony" Nini, owner of Shelton Motors, after last Thursday's fire. A mechanic who used to work for Mr. Nini came around with his box of expensive automotive tools and told Mr. Nini they were his as long as he needed them.

Other car dealers, normally Mr. Nini's friendly enemies, have offered him all their facilities, including greasing and oiling equipment and any tools that can be moved. Some customers have even offered money.

Princeton High has several proud boys and girls on its honor roll for the last marking period . . . they are Helen Harbison, Jonathan Gillman, David Leverenz, Joseph Peterson, Elizabeth Byers, Margaret Jandl and Donna Marx.

Kurt Weitzmann and Rensselaer W. Lee, archaeologists and art historians at Princeton, received sizeable publicity this week for their work in Byzantine art . . . Sunday's New York Times carried a front-page story describing the work of a team (including experts from the University of Michigan and the University of Alexandria, Egypt) which has been photographing and cataloguing priceless Byzantine art in a monastery on Mt. Sinai.

Sigrid de Lima, novelist now resident in Princeton, will publish her fourth novel this June . . . for readers who like a serial, Town Topics publishes the latest installment in the "Know Your Pastor" series. This week: Rosedale Chapel's Dr. S. S. Rizzo. (See page 27).

Many music-lovers stayed away from Monday night's Cleveland Orchestra concert because roads and sidewalks were too icy . . . but one dauntless soul appeared at McCarter on crutches.

TIMES AND PLACES. "Iolanthe" will be the spring production of the Savoyards of Princeton . . . Gilbert and Sullivan fans may try out for parts this Saturday from 7:30 to 10 p.m. and this Sunday from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 10 . . . Tryouts will be held in McCarter . . . Anyone may audition.

Save those pennies for a really rainy day . . . Borough parking meters will be free, free, free this Thursday (Lincoln's birthday) and Monday, February 23, the legal celebration of Washington's Birthday . . . (Better have more than pennies in your pocket on both days: banks will be closed.)

The Public Library will be closed all day this Thursday, too, and also the Monday of Washington's birthday . . . the Library has acquired three new travel films on Canada . . . they are available on loan to individuals and organizations . . . One is a Canadian "horse-opera" about the Calgary Stampede, another is a demonstration of arout-fishing technique in Canadian streams, the third is all about the Canadian Rockies.

Princeton has one of the 46 New Jersey urban renewal projects that have been approved by the Federal Government . . . the 46 plans total almost $69,000,000 . . . New Jersey ranks second in the number of states applying for renewal programs . . . Note to Borough officials: you think you have urban renewal problems? Newark has six separate programs, Jersey City has five.

Midnight may be noon to a tomcat, but it's still midnight to people who want to sleep . . . Town Topics' classified-ad-of-the-week issues a plaintive plea to whoever owns the black tom that prowls and howls at Library and Stockton . . . "keep your tomcat at home and let us sleep!"

VALENTINE FOR THE VALENTINES: February 14 is a real red-heart day at 45 Cuyler Road, where the John Valentines live all year long. TOPICS Of the Town

"SOMETHING FOR ALL"

Variety of Worries. The February meeting of Mayor and Council brought the "Borough Fathers" face-to-face with problems touching upon all facets of the municipality's operations, ranging from a discussion of the all-important 1959 budget (see page 1), to proposed revisions of parking ordinances and to passage on first reading of a measure "putting teeth" in the dog ordinance.

During the two-hour session, marked by only one passing reference to Urban Renewal, the Council also received two significant communications. The Princeton Business Association recommended immediate cessation of parking-meter enforcement Friday evenings in the Borough's central business district.

From the Joint Borough-Township Advisory Committee on Recreation, which had enlisted the assistance of an "ad hoc" committee of the Council of Community Services in pondering the future use of the Witherspoon Community House, came a list of "sound priorities" pertaining to the usage of space in this publicly-owned facility at the corner of Green and Witherspoon Streets.

Parking. In addition to agreeing without question to the Business Association's suggestion that the operation of Friday-evening meters is "an inconvenience for customers," Council unanimously passed an amendment to the parking ordinance which would prescribe the following major changes:

(1) The 33-car lot at the corner of University Place and Mercer Street, which for the past year has been regularly filled before 9 a.m. by all-day parkers, will become a short-term "shoppers' lot" with a stringent two-hour limitation.

(2) In turn, the larger Trinity Churchyard lot on Mercer Street, accommodating 50-plus cars and a money-loser since it was placed in operation, will become an all-day lot, providing 10 hours of parking at 25c a day—a marked drop from the 5c-an-hour charge in other parking lots.

(3) The parking lot on the east side of Palmer Square (behind the Post Office and opposite the motorist's entrance to the Nassau Inn) will operate as a short-term lot during the day (8 a.m.—6 p.m.) but will also function as the Borough's lone all-night public lot, providing free parking between 6 p.m. and 8 a.m.

These contemplated revisions in the parking ordinance will be considered at a special meeting Tuesday evening, February 24, at 8, together with a proposal from the State Highway Department's Bureau of Planning and Traffic to the effect that the Borough eliminate any and all parking on Bayard Lane.

"Dog Ordinance." With the enthusiastic backing of the Board of Health, Mayor and Council on Tuesday, March 10, along with the 1959 budget, will publicly air an ordinance calling for a compulsory, annual inoculation for rabies as a prerequisite for a license for any dog over six months old. This measure would become effective with the "license year" 1960.

Community House. The report from the Joint Advisory Committee on Recreation, described as an "excellent job" by Mayor Male and Councilman Coyle, "foresees no future recreational use for the Community Building" and strongly urges the following order of priorities in the allocation of space:

(1) Public agencies connected with the Borough (for example, the Engineering Department);
(2) Joint Borough-Township agencies established for health, welfare and recreation purposes (for example, Baby Keep-Well Clinic);
(3) Other public agencies (for example, Disaster Control and United Fund);
(4) Private, voluntary agencies providing community services (for example, Visiting Nurse Association, Homemaker Service);
(5) Non-profit organizations promoting public health, welfare, recreation and education (for example, under education, League of Women Voters).

The report stresses that "the greatest need of community service agencies and organizations is for office space, rooms where executive boards can meet, where organizations can be reached, work-space for committees." It is equally emphatic on the point "that activities organized and operated for a profit should not be housed in the building."

Fire Code. The initial steps toward the implementation of the newly adopted Fire Code, and the creation of a Fire Prevention Bureau under the direction of the municipality's present Fire Chief, was taken with the passage of an amendment establishing the five-member bureau and spelling out the terms of service.

Initial nominees from the ranks of active former chiefs of the Borough were presented by Chief Walter Coan: Walter P. Foley, representing Engine Company No. 1; Carl C. Schafer, Hook and Ladder C. Chemical Company No. 1; and Joseph J. Stemmle, the "Father of the Code." Mercer Engine Company No. 3.

LIQUOR CHANGE TABLED

"Reasonable Time" Undefined. The Township Committee delayed action this week on a proposed change in liquor regulations after Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman was told the new rule "doesn't seem fair, Mr. Fairman." Joseph J. Fasanella, manager of Andy's Tavern at 246 Alexander Street, made the statement in opposition to an ordinance which would forbid consumption of alcoholic beverages on licensed premises after midnight, even if the drinks had been purchased before closing time. (The Township budget for 1959-60 was introduced at the meeting. See Page 1.)

The tabling of the proposed amendment left up in the air the question of what constitutes a "reasonable time" for a bar patron to finish his drink. Under the regulation currently in force in the Township, patrons may remain in a bar for a "reasonable time" after midnight although no beverage sales may be made later than that hour.

According to Mayor Fairman, the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission in Newark felt the "reasonable time" provision was ambiguous and instructed the Township Committee to clarify the ordinance. In an effort to do so, the committee proposed the new rule, which prohibits sale or consumption after closing time and, in fact, orders that patrons must be out of the licensed premises at midnight. Hotels, restaurants and clubs are not affected by the proposed legislation.

In other business, the committee received a letter requesting that the proposed outdoor skating rink not be considered except as a self-supporting or revenue-producing facility. Committeeman Stanley C. Smoyer said the rink "is still in the Cloud No. 9 category" and discussion of it is premature.

"We would certainly hope that any such activity could be self-supporting," Mr. Smoyer said, but he added that plans for the rink must wait until the overall master plan for Township redevelopment is completed. "From the experience of other communities, we suspect that it could be self-supporting but we don't know if it could pay off its original investment," he said.

Mrs. Judith H. Alpert of Autumn Hill Drive appeared before the committee to request assistance in putting through state legislation to control blasting operations such as those at the Kingston Trap Rock Company. Blasting there, she said, has so damaged her house that she has had difficulty in obtaining insurance. The committee agreed to communicate with the state representatives from Mercer County about the matter.

The committee was told that the Township Committee of West Windsor has requested the county freeholders to restrict the passage of heavy trucks on Harrison Street and has asked Princeton Township to cooperate with them to this end. Committeeman John Mount pointed out that trucks weighing more than eight tons are already forbidden to use the Harrison Street bridge.

He recommended that signs bearing this prohibition be placed at both the Nassau Street and U.S. 1 accesses to Harrison Street. Any further restrictions, he said, would hinder the delivery of goods to Princeton Shopping Center.

A resolution that Hun Road and Heather Lane be incorporated into the Township roads system was approved on first reading. Also approved was a bond reduction of $23,600 to Princeton Country Estates, Poe Road.

A bond refund of $1,500 requested by Princeton Housing Associates Inc. was refused until unsatisfactory conditions are cleared up on Mount Lucas Road. The committee took under advisement a request by the Princeton Manor Construction Co. to grant a two-year bond extension to allow paving of Terhune Road, Harrison Street and Randall Road at the same time.

Bids were opened and read for the construction of Van Dyke Road off Snowden Lane. Low bidders, at $29,526.40, were W. H. Courtney & Sons Inc. of Trenton. Action on the bids was held off until the next meeting.

ACCIDENTS PILE UP

One Fatality in Area. A woman from Patchogue, Long Island, died in Princeton Hospital early Tuesday morning of injuries suffered in a storm-caused accident on Route 130 near Cranbury.

This was the only death caused by the icy road conditions that prevailed Monday afternoon and night. But there were many minor accidents in Princeton. Cars slid and turned and bumped each other on the icy streets like scooters in an amusement park.

Y. C. Higashi, 104 North Stanworth, was driving north on Bayard Lane Monday afternoon when he went into a 50-foot skid, hit a tree and slid 82 feet before crashing into a car driven by Mrs. Juanita Rhoades, 219 Birch Ave.

Mrs. Rhoades saw him coming

Matter of how you look at it, but this week a lot of Princeton motorists were looking at icy streets and in some cases (see Topics of the Town), not faring too well. After that, there was fog, and finally sunshine.

More of the latter and less of the former is on tap, the Man promised. Temperatures will remain nearer normal, with no weekend precipitation expected.

Historical note: Just 25 years ago this week (February 1934), the all-time low recorded in New Jersey was reached. The thermometer touched 14 below zero.

February 12, 1959

I want to express publicly my thanks to the Princeton Fire and Police Departments for their wonderful efforts in connection with the disastrous fire at 198 Witherspoon Street last Thursday.

Further expression of thanks must be made to the customers who suffered losses in our fire and who are bearing with us while we are reorganizing to afford all the "service" that is expected from us.

My deep appreciation is likewise expressed to the Princeton automobile dealers and businessmen who have placed at my disposal their facilities and equipment.

Through action in the future, I hope that I can show the many kind people who offered their assistance and sympathy, my real thanks.

Sincerely,

"Tony" Nini

"A BOY GROWING UP"

Williams Program Sparkling. Emlyn Williams returned after 16 months to the McCarter stage Saturday night with his witty and enchanting "entertainment" based on the stories of fellow-Welshman, Dylan Thomas. In exploring the agonies and raptures of the poet, as a child and as an adolescent, Mr. Williams struck responsive chords in the audience with his brief, yet all-encompassing sketches. In fact, the poet himself might have been speaking directly to each member of the capacity crowd.

The touch of the two artists was everywhere — from the portrayal of an old man on an outing, to the teen-ager's pleasure in a good fight with a strange boy. The instant comradeship (or loathing) of youth came across the footlights with a quick gesture, a change of expression or a tap of the foot.

In one of the early sketches, the child looks at his Cousin Gwilym, aged 20, with wonder and awe, as his relative expounds from an imaginary pulpit. In a few sparse phrases, Mr. Williams put forth the uncertainties and desires of the young man — and the complete lack of comprehension on the part of the child, to whom life was quite simple. The tricks of the voice were an integral part of Williams' professional skill, which transcended the need for costumes or props.

An older friend of Thomas' was characterized next — a nervous lad who consciously and unconsciously mourns the death of his brother. As the two explore a seaside headland, battling the wind and height, Ray speaks of Harry as if in a dream, when the child asks by way of a game, "Who do you wish was with us?"

The complusive click of Ray's fingers and his jerky way of speaking betray the emotion behind his blithe answer. Mr. Williams' classic acting brought the scene showing the breakdown of Ray's defenses into sharp focus.

Leaving the sadness of growing up momentarily, Mr. Williams turned to the wit implicit in a Welshman's makeup with a description of the all-male annual outing in Swansea, Thomas' birthplace. The progress from pub to pub was meticulously outlined in all its hazards to the delight of the listeners, as were the vicissitudes of bus travel over rural roads.

A pompous, yet understanding, schoolmaster gave his opinion of young Thomas, a sketch thrown into greater relief by the poet's later description of himself as he embarks into the wide world of England ("which means London"). Thomas' school days, marked by discovery and excitement, were explored through his friendship with a town boy he meets while throwing pebbles at a master reading a newspaper. The new-found comrade, a precocious composer, initiates him into the mysteries of the female, and the two lay bare the general madness of grownups with unfeeling scorn.

Finally, Mr. Williams took the poet out of the confines of narrow village life to London in succinct lines. The description of adolescent rebellion against the stuffy atmosphere inflicted upon him by his parents was particularly good. Before Thomas leaves Swansea, he takes great pleasure in destroying his mother's prized possessions — photographs and the best tea set. The audience could almost hear the rip of paper and the crunch of china.

In London, Thomas picks up immediately with a set of strangers. The high point of this encounter comes when he feels he must make love to a serious, unattractive girl while they both sit on the edge of a bathtub filled with dirty water. Both actor and writer make the fantastic seem real — the wild imaginings of poetic fancy set free become reality on the stage.

Mr. Williams held the audience in the palm of his hand throughout the evening. The words rang out in joy and sadness, and the music of his voice carried his listeners to a world filled alternately with enchantment, emotion, grubbiness and beauty.

Credit belongs to Dana Productions, through whom the program was put on stage here. Ralph P. Miller, Thomas Sternberg and William W. Lockwood (all seniors at Princeton University) rate their full share of applause for bringing "A Boy Growing Up" to McCarter. The Kingston Trio, Carl Sandburg and Carlos Montoya will follow this auspicious beginning.

PLAYERS' REPORT

Two "S.R.O." Nights. The Princeton Community Players' production of "Under Milk Wood" played to a total of 792 Princetonians in its six-night stand. The Dylan Thomas work was given on Friday and Saturday nights for three successive weekends, ending last Saturday night.

Two of the six performances were standing-room-only. The Playmill holds 150, so that the 792 figure is only 108 short of full capacity for the six-night run.

The Players' next offering will be the best three plays out of the seven that were produced in the recent Director's Workshop conducted by John Becker. These will be given first on April 17.

Sometime in May, the date to be announced later, the Players will present a melodrama similar to the successful one that was staged last year. Marguerite McAneny will direct.

Mrs. McAneny will serve as the new acting president of the group. Other officers are Fred Sheldon, first vice-president; Mrs. Blackwell Smith, second vice-president; Mrs. Paul Fussell, secretary; H. C. Sturbahn, treasurer, and Chalmer Minor, production manager.

AT HOME WITH "BOOTS": Miss Edith King, seen as often on the TV screen as she is in front of her Kendall Park home, strikes an unusual pose with her beloved cat, "Boots." For more about this accomplished actress, see News of the Theatres. (Richards Photo)

SHE'S A "CHARACTER"

Yet, She Likes the Tag. Most people resent being referred to as a "character." Not Miss Edith King, the lovely lady who lives on the corner of Blair and Stanworth in nearby Kendall Park. She is a "character" actress by profession—and, every time a friend or neighbor is convinced she's a real "character" because of her latest portrayal, she feels honored—and delighted.

Ever since she turned 14, Miss King has enjoyed success as a sought-after supporting performer on stage, on screen and now on television. She has merrily run the gamut—from six years of varied parts with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine to such melodramatic movies as "Belle Star's Daughter" and "Blaze of Noon" to mad mayhem opposite Phil Silvers on the "Sergeant Bilko" TV show.

Though she is perfectly willing to tackle any kind of role, she prefers comedy, Miss King admitted this week. "It is less trying and more fun." Curious then that the talented actress should consider the part of Emilia, in the 1945 production of Shakespeare's "Othello," her "most exciting and satisfying" characterization.

Playing the villain Iago's wife opposite Jose Ferrer and Paul Robeson, Miss King handled a role she feels "is equal to any of Shakespeare's women." From a gay, carefree, loving young wife, Emilia is transformed by the Knowledge of Iago's wickedness into a tragic heroine who betrays her beloved husband and dies in the betrayal. Essentially, however, Emilia is "the same person from beginning to end.

She Prefers the Stage. On Broadway and on tour with the Lunts, whom she calls "the greatest man and wife team acting today," and on Broadway and on tour with the "Othello" production, Miss King came to realize full well she is happiest in front of a live audience. Motion pictures were—and TV is— a good way to keep body and soul together, but these two media cannot touch the stage for sheer enjoyment of the acting profession.

Along the same line, Miss King, the "character," prefers TV to movies because, in television, "you sustain a role," playing it all the way through with no chance of a retake. "It's much more like the real thing than the movies."

Lately, Miss King has devoted most of her acting time to TV, appearing in "Man Against Crime" with Ralph Bellamy, in a six-week noontime episode called "Hotel Cosmopolitan" and as recently as December 14 in the Camera 3 presentation of Balzac's "Pere Goriot." She hopes to maintain a steady television pace, though it may mean moving from her much-loved Kendall Park home because she receives so many hurry-up calls to be in New York "in less than two hours after the call."

What "character" portray has she enjoyed in her television career so far? Well, she won accolades for her work in Maurice Evans' well-remembered production of "Man and Superman" and

SANDLER IN TOWN

More Than Loafers. Sandler of Boston, known for snug and supple loafers, is back in Princeton with a closet-full of new styles. They are all at Hulit's, displayed in those enchanting little 4-B samples that wouldn't fit a single women we know. Anyhow, the shoes are quite exciting, even in 8's.

You've seen pictures of these new ones, probably. There's a flat with six little pairs of brass eyelets marching right up from the pointed toe and laced together with black shoe-string elastic. Shoe is red or black. Its heel is a quarter-inch piece of tear-drop shaped wood nailed to the sole.

The squash heel — terribly new, dahling — appears on several little shoes. A squash heel, for the benefit of readers who never see anything but "The Atlantic Monthly," is a heel that looks as though you had sat on it.

It is wooden, about an inch high in most cases, with a deep, horizontal pleat all around. It appears on a plain, pointed black kat and again, this time only half an inch high, on a sand-colored suede flat with black grosgrain eyelet and bow.

Sandler also makes a dashing suede flat whose pointed toe and sharply pointed vamp match to make a diamond shape. This style is also called "peaked." Long stitching outlines the diamond. Shoe comes in grey, black, gold, or sage green with contrasting stitching.

Here is a Ripple-soled shoe in sand or black suede with a jaunty brass buckle on the side. Ripple is the sole that looks like a snow tire. It's designed so that its slanting treads help to propel you foreward with a minimum of effort. Heaven only knows what would happen if a luckless assemply-line man got the soles on in reverse. You'd just have to walk backwards, that's all.

Bone is the color for spring, and Sandler produces a shoe in bone and calls it "Patty-cake." It's an abbreviated T-strap, with the T 'way down on the vamp and a mild point. Another bone shoe is a wedgie of all things. It has a slight arch, even so, and a scooped out side that makes it lighter in appearance than old-fashioned wedge shoes. The leather is punched pig.

A Sandler walking shoe made of a fine leather called Deldisilk (Soft, Soft Suede) has a Cuban heel and a peaked vamp like the flat we mentioned above. Prices on Sandlers are $8.95 to $13.95.

A Sniff of Spring. VanZandt's always schedules a big Washington's Birthday open house because this is the time of year whenwinter has been around too long and spring is almost, but not quite, and it's good to get out in the country and see what the tractor people are offering for the new year. This year's dates for the Open House: February 20 and 21.

Of course, International Harvester is not the only pancake on the griddle. (For pancake information, see box this page).

Effete indoor appliances by Philco will be on display, too. While your husband is out doors kicking the tires of the new Springfield riding mower, you can watch a demonstration of the Philco Automagic washer, and there is certainly no doubt about which one of the family needs most. . . .

International Harvester lines to be on display, include small cub tractors to use if you plan 100 square feet of tomatoes, all the way up to No. 560, the daddy of 'em all.

On these two Open House days, February 20 and 21, you may see Philco's 1959 refrigerator with a Lazy Susan shelf and flush doors; Philco's Quick-Chef range with a little side-oven for TV dinners (really); and a wringer washer that has a filter. There will also be a portable TV with remote control at no extra cost, and new freezers with a very esoteric new interior design.

Toro has a bag that catches grass, like the bag of a vacuum cleaner, and Springfield's riding mower has a complete transmission with clutch and everything.

There will also be, off in a corner, a pre-spring sale on some garden hose.

Be Mine. We know a wag about town who views Valentine's Day with a cynical eye: "Take back my heart," he says, "I ordered liver."

The Valentine candy you'll give —or receive—might just as well come from Viedt's, Thorne's, the Nassau Pharmacy, Louise Maas or The Black Lantern.

Viedt's has Fanny Farmer, Whitman, Schrafft's, in boxes that are heart-shaped and wrapped with yellow, pink and red ribbons and bows. Miss Farmer, always conventional, puts a Valentine paper around a standard box, if you like. Candy hearts at (Viedt's) start at 65c and go to $6.50. Is your love worth another decimal point?

Cinnamon hearts, red crystallized jelly hearts and glace gum hearts are available by the pound, or quarter pound.

Thorne's likes Russell Stover, as always. This gentleman has nuts, chewy things, crisp things and pecan delights. We like Thorne's white poodle with a red and white Valentine sweater, and a white plush squirrel with a red heart, worn right on his sleeve. It says "Be Mine." Thorne's has a huge transparent red lollypop with a motto heart in the middle.

The Nassau Pharmacy plays it safe with Whitman and Schrafft's in heart boxes, Louise Maas has these, too, and also Rosemarie de Paris, Cynthia Sweet (discount Rosemarie) and Louis Sherry. At Louis Maas, you'll find many Valentine and Washington's Birthday favors, like the heart cups, and the cherry "log" filled with candies. Best of all is a giant brandy snifter filled with cherries in cherry liqueur.

Some little strawberry hearts of pectin jelly (80 cents a pound) have a striking, fresh strawberry flavor, that is most unusual.

Come And Get It!

Pancakes end syrup, sausage and hot coffee, all of it "on the house."

That's the menu next week out at Van Zandt's in Blawenburg. Go out on Friday or Saturday, February 20 or 21, and take along an empty stomach. If you go right away on Saturday as soon as the Van Zandts begin to serve, (10 a.m.) you won't have to fix breakfast at home and you can stay until 5. Set your alarm for a bit later if you go Friday. Servings will start at noon and continue until 8 p.m.

On Saturday, you might as well take the family and just turn them loose. It's all part of Van Zandt's annual Washington's Birthday Open House and the pancake-sausage routine goes on until 4 p.m. each day. Last year, 800 people showed up during the two-day open House. If 800 people eat two and one-third pancakes each, how many . . .

Homa Ownars, Beware!

Two Princeton families have been duped by a pair of salesmen purporting to represent an aluminum siding company and the Princeton Business Association has warned home owners to watch out for salesmen with similar schemes. The P.B.A. learned of the incidents through complaints made to it by the families involved.

According to one letter received by the P.B.A., the salesmen appeared at the writer's home and told him they would re-side his house for $2800 if he would let them use it as a model. Then, for every householder they sold in the neighborhood, the model home owner would receive $100.

The owner agreed and paid the $2800. His house was re-sided but he became suspicious when time passed and no one was brought around to look at his house. Upon inquiry, he found that he could have had the job done for about $800, instead of $2800.

The owner and his lawyers are not certain whether the aluminum siding company and the contractor are actual parties to the scheme but company officials did offer the owner $200 because they said that they had made two sales in the neighborhood. The contractor gave the owner a $1,070 refund but apparently no further legal action can be taken because the contract signed by the homeowner was perfectly valid.

In "Cyrano de Bergerac," with Ferrer. But she has a feeling that those who know her thought she was really a "character"—in the King-approved sense of the word—as Audrey Hepburn's mother in "Ondine."

THE PLAYHOUSE

Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys! (February 12-17) gives the Playhouse its second successive comedy hit, this one concocted in mad fashion by that cinemodigicinn, Leo McCarey. The talented producer-director, responsible for so many delightful films in bygone days, is at his best in promoting fun from the best-selling novel by Max Shulman. He is aided in the promotion by a well-chosen cast — Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward as a mixed-up, suburban couple, Joan Collins as their seductive neighbor, Jack Carson as a civilian-hating Army captain, etc., etc. — and the effective use of CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color.

For those who missed the book, "Rally" deals amusingly with the marital problems of a young Connecticut couple, emphasizing, of course, the farcical aspects of the situation. Newman becomes involved with Miss Collins, lonely with her husband out of town, then gets in deeper when, on an abortive visit to the Pentagon to represent his community, he is followed by Miss Collins, without his knowledge, and discovered with her in his hotel room by Miss Woodward. Meanwhile, Carson is busy attempting to establish a "Top Secret" base in the Connecticut town — an attempt which meets strong opposition on all fronts. McCarey once again is well worth rallying 'round, boys!

TOP PERFORMER: Henny Moan plays a leading role in "Nine Lives," the much-honored film based on a true story about an amazing escape from Arctic Norway—at the Garden Theatre through Saturday.

18-24) is much better fare than the rambling, contrived, best-selling novel (by James Jones) on which it is based, and, of greater importance to producer Sol C. Siegel, the movie version boasts sure-fire box office appeal. Yet, underneath, this film does not contain the cinemagic it appears to contain on the surface. Its sordid story of a casual soldier from Indiana who returns home — and quickly pulls aside the veil of hypocrisy that has been hiding life on a mid-West merry-go-round — is pretty standard stuff, and not always convincing. Things like that may well happen in Indiana, but not in the explosive, melodramatic manner concocted by Hollywood, with Jones' typical injections of off-beat living.

As the free-dealing, free-loving soldier, Frank Sinatra is well cast, adding another success to his growing list of acting triumphs. Shirley McLaine is elfin — and exciting — as the "pick-up" who follows Frank from Chicago, while Dean Martin is appropriately unpleasant as the town's principal gambler, Arthur Kennedy is effectively deceptive as Sinatra's staid — but secretary-loving — brother and Martha Hyer is sugary sweet as the college teacher who turns out to be Frankie Boy's true romance. Vincente Minelli's direction proves fast-paced and the qualities of CinemaScope and Metrocolor enhance the whole production, but "Some Came Running" is certain to result in this reaction: Some Left Wondering.

THE GARDEN

Nine Lives (February 12-14), in Norwegian with English titles, is a much-lauded motion picture import about an amazing escape from Artic Norway. An Academy Award nominee, it has also been honored at six international film festivals — Cannes, Berlin, Edinburgh, Vancouver, San Sebastian and Cork — and is the recipient of Parents Magazine's Gold Medal Award. Featured are Henny Moan, Jack Fjeldstad and Alf Malland.

The Time of Desire (February 16-21), in Swedish with English titles, is a painstakingly written and directed import — with excellent cinematography — that is designed primarily for the art house devotee. Adhering to an unrelievedly grim, adult theme, the film concerns two serious-minded, teen-age daughters who, left to their own devices by an indifferent father after their mother's sudden death, are brought to rapid, tragically stark maturity. The village swains, of course, are responsible for the maturing process, an ex-convict taking the first step by betting his colleagues that either girl can easily be dated.

FRENCH FILM SCHEDULED

By University Club. The French Club of Princeton University will present "Le Diable au Corps," a French film with English subtitles, at 9 p.m. Thursday night at 10 McCosh Hall. Referred to by one critic as "perhaps the finest, most mature (picture) from postwar France," the film stars Gerard Philipe, Micheline Presle and Jacques Tati.

Based on the novel of the same name by Raymond Radiguet, "Le Diable au Corps" was awarded the Grand Prize at the Brussels Film Festival in 1948. It is the fourth in a series of outstanding French films presented by the French Club. Admission is 50 cents.

and stopped her car before he struck it. Wanda Rhoades, 19 months old, Mrs. Rhoades' daughter, was taken to Princeton Hospital with a bruised forehead, treated and released. Mr. Higashi was charged with careless driving.

Most of the other accidents occurred on North Harrison. There was a four-car merry-go-round when Robert Mark, 292 Ewing, driving north on Harrison, turned left from Harrison into Ewing. He skidded into a drain. Mrs. H. B. Chamberlain of Trenton, going south on Harrison, hit Mr. Mark. Mrs. Elizabeth Blackman of lower Harrison Street, in turn hit Mrs. Chamberlain. Then A. P. Dohrenburg, 309 Alexander Hall, skidded into Mrs. Blackmun.

Other accidents on North Harrison occurred when drivers were unable to avoid crashing into the rear of cars that had stopped for the red light. Cars also skidded on Stockton and Mercer before those streets were sanded. One car on Stockton struck a public service pole and one traveling on Mercer hit a tree.

SECOND SERIOUS FIRE

Damages Mayme Mead's. The second serious fire in Princeton's business district in five days did several thousand dollars worth of damage Tuesday night to the Mayme Mead dress shop at 188 Nassau Street. (For a picture and story on Thursday's costly fire at the Shelton Motor Co., see page 23.)

Flames were discovered shortly before 8 p.m. by B. E. Bergesen, Jr. of 196 State Road, at work in his office on the second floor of the building. All three companies responded to the general alarm turned in when he called borough police.

The fire began in a rear room of the dress shop, and spread to three others it occupies in the brick and frame building, owned by Edmund D. Cook. Extensive damage was done to the shop's merchandise, just recently augmented by a shipment of spring wear.

Heat, smoke and water were an added factor in the fire loss, which included damage to two sewing machines in the room where the blaze started. No immediate cause for the fire was advanced by Chief Walter L. Conn, nor was an exact estimate of the damage available. Both the building and the merchandise are insured.

NEW CLUB PROPOSED

Cooperative Garden Apartment. A proposal to build a $3-$6 million cooperative garden apartment on Herrontown Road has been informally presented to Township officials. It is now under consideration by the Multiple Family Dwellings Committee of the Township Planning Board.

The proposal has been made by Mrs. Claire Levine on whose 46-acre wooded tract the project may be built. Mrs. Levine proposes a group of one and two bedroom houses, plus guest houses, recreation facilities (indoor and outdoor), and special services such as a central domestic service and professional grounds keeping.

The "residental club," as Mrs. Levine styles her project, would provide homes for families whose children are grown. Each family would buy its own house and then pay a yearly fee for the use of the club's facilities.

Mrs. Levine envisions a series of one and two-story wings, so designed that the natural wooded and rocky nature of her property would be retained.

"The families attracted to this project would probably not have young children," Mrs. Levine points out, "and they would be purchasing houses that cost considerably more than the local average. I feel that these two factors make the 'club' a real tax asset to Princeton Township."

SCHOOL ELECTION RESULTS

Princeton Borough. With a surprising voter turn-out that topped 15 percent, Princeton Borough on Tuesday returned all three incumbents to the Board of Education. The budget was approved by a margin of approximately 6 to 1.

Bryan V. Moore was high in the four-way race, polling 500 votes. Re-elected with him were Dr. Henry M. Abrams, 499, and Mrs. Grace M. Loetscher, 435. J. Van Skillman polled 263.

Princeton Township. About 15 percent of the electorate also went to the polls in the Township to determine a close race in which the third successful candidate defeated his nearest opponent by ten votes. The budget was approved by a 4 to 1 margin.

Winners were Richard Pearson, 306; John S. Donal, Jr., (the only incumbent seeking a new three-year term), 294; and Leonard M. Hymerling, 205. The defeated candidates were Joel B. Johnson, 195; Glenn B. Miller, 181; and Oscar Sussman, 127.

Lawrence Township. Some 12 percent of the voters in Lawrence approved the budget by a 5-to-2 margin and chose three men out of the five on the ballot.

Successful were R. Garrett Boetsma, 508; Herman Berenson, 468; and Carl R. Kroger, 419. They defeated John H. Spooner, 368, and Robert B. Immordino, 357.

West Windsor Township. The victors in a four-way race were Bernard Mount, 180; Walter Conover, Jr., 171; and Mrs. Hannah Tindall, 155. Mrs. Winifred Fisher was the loser.

Other Results. In South Brunswick, the victors were John Murphy, Harold Leary and Dr. Rudolph Prietke. Haydn Raahe was the loser.

In Franklin Township, the winners were Kurt Nathan, Madison Weidner and Julius Silver. Salvatore Argila was defeated.

In Plainsboro Township, Oliver Sayler, Benjamin Tipi and Mrs. Jane Snook were elected. Harold Britton, Mrs. Mary Saunders and Enock Durbin were the losers.

LOAN COMPANY ROBBED

Theft Third of Its Kind. The third robbery of a Princeton loan company this winter was staged at 10:24 Friday morning when the Capital Finance office at 33 Witherspoon Street was relieved of $800.

A man who kept his right hand in his overcoat pocket as a threat that he might be armed ordered the office secretary to "hand over all the bills and then lie down on the floor," Mrs. Mary Hughes, 22, of Hamilton Square, complied and the moment he had departed, tried to get a glimpse of him from the firm's second story window. The thief was hidden by the building's overhang, however, with police theorizing that he made his escape in a car parked on Spring Street.

Mrs. Hughes described the robber as "around 28 or 29 years old, 6 feet, 8 inches, 170 pounds, hatless and wearing a dark wool overcoat. He had a 'New York accent,'" she commented.

Office manager Robert Cougan of Cranbury was not in the building when the robbery occurred and Mrs. Hughes was alone at the time. Mrs. Hughes dialed the operator to report the theft and was first connected with State Police on Route 1. Borough police Sergeants Peter J. McCrohan and Randolph Applegate arrived on the scene six minutes after the robber had left the office.

The theft was the third of its kind since December 30, when the first of two similar robberies was staged at the Shopping Center branch of the Household Finance Company. A return visit was paid inside of two weeks by the thief, who was later arrested in Laurence Harbor, N.J.

TOWNSHIP MAKES PLANS

First Hearing Next Month. Princeton Township's Planning Board hopes to hold its first public hearing on the anticipated Master Plan on March 30, Ralph Mason, Board chairman, said this week.

The Board will hold as many public hearings as are necessary. If the Board adopts the Master Plan, it will then be up to Township Committee to implement the Plan if it wishes, by specific legislation, such as zoning changes, a housing code and the like. Mr. Mason said he hopes that specific measures will be enacted by this summer.

The Plan projects the Township ahead 17 years to the time when the estimated 20,000 population figure will be a reality. Sub-committees have been studying such matters as: Shall garbage service be supplied to the whole community? Should the entire Township be sewered?

What will be the cemetery requirements of the next 17 years? Will the Township need new public buildings, including a library?

Master Plan preparation is being undertaken by a professional planner, but Mr. Mason said that one of the most impressive pieces of work has been done by Harry Volweider and John Donol, who have completed a survey of industrial and research growth in areas adjacent to Princeton.

Surveying 76 percent of the companies now in this area, Mr. Volweider and Mr. Donal found that five years from now, there will be three times as many workers within a 10-mile radius of Princeton, as there are today (9,400 as opposed to the current 3,300).

What this will mean in terms of hospital care, United Fund services, traffic and so on, is all part of the Planning Board's deliberations.

Traffic is one of the Township's major problems and Mr. Mason said that the Roads Committee of the Board has been laying out, in a general way, several new Township roads.

One possibility is a wide loop which would encircle the Township, almost at its edge. Another road might be a continuation of Bayard Lane. The Great Road might be realigned to eliminate the hazardous curving hill beyond Tenacre. All these possibilities are geared to easier north-south, east-west crossing of Township land.

Mr. Mason emphasized that, in discussing a Master Plan, his Board is working closely with the Borough, with West Windsor and Montgomery Townships and with Mercer and Middlesex county officials.

LICENSE REVOKED

For Passing "Stop" Sign. The first 1959 violation in Princeton Township for passing a "stop" sign drew a 10-day license revocation — as promised last month by Magistrate Louis R. Cerber.

Miss Alice W. Smith, 53, 50 Hodge Road, lost her driving privileges for ten days. She also paid $5 court costs.

Miss Julie Bowers, 17, 88 Russell Road, was fined $25 on a careless driving charge. In a criminal court case, David Burnet, 40, Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, was sentenced to a year's term in the county workhouse for disorderly conduct.

Alexander Robinson

KENDALL PARK GOP ELECTS

New President, New Aims. The recently-organized Kendall Park Republican Club has elected a new president, Alexander P. Robinson, former faculty member at Princeton Country Day School. At last week's meeting, Mr. Robinson said that the primary aim of the new club would be to sharpen unification of political strength in the South Brunswick area.

The new club is a branch of the South Brunswick GOP club and expects to work in conjunction with the parent organization. Serving with Mr. Robinson are Kendall Park Residents John Neefus vice-president; Mrs. Michael Gleisner, secretary; Joseph Wright, treasurer; and Mrs. David Faurot, corresponding secretary.

BICKER SUCCESSFUL

No Sophomores Left Out. Every sophomore who wished to join a Princeton University eating club was admitted to one of the 17 by 1:20 a.m. on the final night of the 11-day selection period. An unofficial check showed 689 sophomores listed on club rolls.

In December, 702 members of the class indicated their desire to join clubs by registering for the Bicker, or club calling period. The 13 who dropped out of Bicker either left school or joined the University-sponsored alternate facility, Wilson Lodge. The Lodge now counts 48 sophs among its membership. Prospect Cooperative Club attracted only four new members before closing its books at 0:15 on Open House Night last Saturday.

David J. Callard, president of the Inter-Club Committee, expressed thanks to the sophomore Bicker committee and to the class as a whole for their efforts toward achieving 100 percent. "The clubs cooperated through an awareness of their responsibility to the university community," he said. "The results were very gratifying."

Philip L. Bruner, head of the sophomore committee, said the last man did not actually enter a club until 1:20 Sunday morning. This sophomore had a bid, however, and was debating whether to accept it or to go to Wilson, Mr. Bruner said.

The largest section of new members — 80 — was taken by Terrace Club. Prospect, with four, and Elm, with 18, were the smallest sections. The Bicker Committee of Prospect Club, which had said earlier that the club needed 20 new members to remain solvent, posted a notice in the club after the close of Bicker, saying: "Our best efforts were of no avail. A powerful combination of economic and social factors seems to have rendered our club superfluous."

The University has announced plans for a new dormitory quadrangle, scheduled for completion by September, 1960, which will include social and dining facilities. "We may hope that the best features of (Prospect Club) will find their analogues in the quadrangle," the committee's note said.

ner at Nassau Inn Monday night. J. S. Hanks is general chairman of the campaign, while L. J. Linde will conduct solicitations among Princeton business firms. Mr. Linde is manager of C Siellarator Associates, the organization which is working with Princeton University on nuclear research at Forrestal Research Center.

"The chapter deserves the continued support of every business organization in the area."

'GIFTED' PROGRAM SET

For Township Schools. Provision has been made in the Township school budget for the hiring of a special teacher to tutor the community's most gifted students next year. A testing program conducted last year revealed 54 children who rank above their schoolmates in learning ability and achievement and who could take part profitably in special classes.

These 54 pupils placed among the top one percent in intelligence when rated on a national scale. The Township scale, which is more discriminating, rated them all above the 95th percentile. According to James A. Perkins, retiring member of the Board of Education, there is a significant gap between this group and the rest of the community's school population.

Board President William L. Wilson pointed out that the proposed program is a new venture for the Township. John E. Dobbin, a member of the board, said that similar programs have been tried sucessfully elsewhere in the nation.

An outline of the plan was presented by William D. Purcell, assistant superintendent of schools. The outstanding children, he said, will come together for group instruction for two half-days each week. Seventh and eighth grade students will make

He came to Princeton in the fall of 1957 from Cornell University, where he was chairman of the Germanic literature department. THEY MIGHT BUILD IT RIGHT HERE, GANG: Leonard Dunk points to a section of "Community Gardens," west of Witherspoon Street near Valley Road, which may become the site of an outdoor ice skating rink. Those interested in his explanation are (left to right) Alfred Perna, Anthony Trani, James Greene Jr., Sally Ann Parker and Linda Price. For more on the subject, see Question of the Week below. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

Question: The Township Committee is studying the possibility of constructing an outdoor ice skating rink on some of the acreage known as "Community Gardens." Do you think the land should be used for this "community purpose"?

Location: Around town.

Leonard Dunk, Scott Avenue, Princeton Junction, sales manager for Shelton Motor Company: Personally, I'm disposed to think it would be a splendid idea. It wouldn't take more than four or five acres, thus leaving plenty of land for summer recreational purposes, too.

Paul Aoderson, Westminster Choir College, student: I can't see putting any amount of money into a hockey rink — because it's a seasonal thing. I don't see why low-cost housing — garden-type apartments maybe — couldn't be arranged for the large area. This kind of development would help the town's many students, and also might help ease crowded conditions in the Negro section.

Mrs. Sarah Fetzer, 345 Nassau Street, employee in the department of records at ETS: Well, Princeton already has an ice skating rink and lots of skating on the lake. Why should the town spend all that money just for a few months' enjoyment a year? We poor taxpayers will no doubt have to pay for it. I feel a centralized Township school would have been — and still may be — the answer for "Community Gardens."

John Griffin, Nassau Club, retired Army officer: With the availability of Baker Rink to townspeople, plus Carnegi Lake, I don't think it makes much sense. I believe the city fathers should work on a change-in-deed for "Community Gardens" to make low-cost, integrated housing a possibility for the area.

James Greene Jr., 27½ Leigh Avenue, Valley Road School student: I heard my father talking about it just last night, and, from what I could gather, he didn't like the idea very much. He said he could think of better things to do with the land. As far as I'm concerned, I'd love an outdoor rink here — especially if it could be used for roller skating in the summer!

Charles Van Note, 12 Charlton Street, consultant: I don't think it's a very good thought. If ice could be maintained on a 12-month basis, or the rink could be switched to a roller skating arena roller skating arena during Icy Reception?

Members of the Township Committee are studying informally the possibility of constructing an outdoor ice skating rink as a major contribution toward improved public recreational facilitites in Princeton. "Four to five acres" of "Community Gardens" were mentioned as the "ideal site" for such a development.

Since the announcement, the question of a rink has proved a controversial subject, drawing much comment throughout the Borough as well as the Township. On occasion, the matter has received a somewhat icy reception—because skating facilities are already available to the community; the problem of financing the proposed rink; and the belief that "Community Gardens" could be used for more vital purposes.

The Township Committee has stressed that only a fraction of "Community Gardens" would be necessary for the rink, which would improve the recreation facilities greatly, since Baker Rink isn't open to the public often and Carnegie Lake doesn't enjoy many winters such as the present one. Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman believes that a public skating rink would be a self-supporting project.

during the warm months, it might be a big success and pay for itself. But these ideas aren't likelihoods, so I believe the Township should re-chart its current course.

Geo Barnes, R.D. 1, truck farmer: An ice skating rink? It's bad enough we have to watch hockey on television. Now you want grown men to come to this town and teach our children to hit each other over the heads with sticks? I can't put my finger on it, but there must be a better use for the land.

MUSIC
In Princeton

CLEVELANDERS PLAY

In Concert Series I. One of Princeton's favorite orchestras, the Cleveland, played a rich 19th-century program in McCarter Theater Monday night to the evident pleasure of a capacity audience that came out in the storm to hear the midwesterners.

The Cleveland Orchestra has been coming to Princeton every concert season since 1936, with the exception of 1945 and 1957. The group may even have come before that, but the records kept by Mrs. MacKenty Brynn do not go back farther than 23 years.

In the years since the group first came to Princeton, it has acquired a deserved reputation for brilliance of tone and sharpness of attack and release. In certain parts of Monday night's program, where there were crescendoes of, let us say, brass followed by a rest, the orchestra's release was so sharp that an echo of the sound remained in the stillness to reverberate from McCarter's walls.

Conductor George Szell chose a program based largely on 19th century music with a heavy texture. His program opened with Beethoven's Coriolanus Overture and continued with the Schumann Symphony No. 1 in B-flat, known as the "Spring." The sweeping brilliance of the Cleveland tone and Mr. Szell's driving direction made a clear "Spring" out of a score that is often muddied.

After the intermission, Mr. Szell played the Intermezzo from Samuel Barber's opera, "Vanessa." The Intermezzo had not been announced in advance notices of the orchestra's program. Its cool sonorities were a welcome break in the rather weighty program that had originally been announced.

Mr. Szell brought the evening to a close by showing that his orchestra can play sombre music as well as spring music. The Strauss "Death and Transfiguration" had a dark, magnificent brilliance, with each of its innumerable, complex choirs clearly delineated. These superb technicians from Cleveland with their breath-taking discipline and their first-rate musicianship gave Princeton music-lovers a memorable evening.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

Varied Program Planned. The Princeton Music Club will meet Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Charles Chandler, 107 Westcott Road. Serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Jack Ellis, Mrs. Robert Stransky and Mrs. Helen Tas.

Included on the program will be piano duets by Jack Ellis and Mitchell Andrews, vocal selections by Elva Kelsall, accompanied by Ruth McLinn, and piano solos by Martha Norton. A trio composed of Charles Everett, violinist; Robert Pagano, pianist, and John Sessions, cellist, will also be heard.

WILL SING FOR BENEFIT

Warfield to Be Here. The concert to be given on February 26 by William Warfield will benefit its sponsor, the Friendship Club of Princeton, and the club's many service activities. The concert will be held at McCarter Theater.

The Friendship Club gives toys, money and clothing to the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute; makes articles which are sold each year at the Princeton Hospital Fete, contributes to the sick and shut-in of the community and contributes to the United Fund, Red Cross, March of Dimes and other charitable organizations.

Tickets for the Warfield concert are on sale at the University Store. Those who wish to become patrons may write to the club at 20 Green Street.

AMATEURS TO DO HANDEL

Will Sing This Sunday. Two choral works by Handel comprise the program that will be sung this Sunday by the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs. The group will meet at 5:15 at Miss Fine's School.

The Amateurs will sing Handel's "Acis and Galatea" and "Sixth Chandos Anthem". J. Merrill Knapp of the University Department of Music will conduct and the soloists will be Eleanor Holly, soprano; Robert Holland and Richard Sly, tenors, and Herbert Pate, bass.

All who wish to attend are invited to do so. Supper reservations should be made by calling Mrs. MacKenty Bryan, WA 4-0453 between 2 and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

ORGANIST WILL PLAY

In Trinity Church. Marc Schaefer, organist, will give a recital in Trinity Church Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Princeton Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. His recital is open to the public.

Mr. Schaefer, a native of Alsace, is currently studying at Princeton Theological Seminary on a grant from the World Council of Churches. A graduate of Strasbourg University, Mr. Schaefer won first prize in the organ competition at Strasbourg Conservatory in 1957.

He has studied under Charles Muller, Andre Stricker and Carl Weinrich. His program on Wednesday will include works by Buxtehude, Sweelinck, Lubeck, Bach, Walther, Clerambault and Langlais.

CARNEGIE HALL PREMIERE

For Princeton Composer. Prof. Roger Sessions' musical career moves forward again this month with the premiere performance of his violin concerto February 19 at Carnegie Hall in New York under the direction of Leonard Bernstein. There will also be an all-Sessions program on Clair Mann's "Musical Biographies" Tuesday from 7 to 8 p.m. on station WNCN (FM).

The violin concerto will be played by the New York Philharmonic with Tossy Spivakovsky as violin soloist. It will be repeated February 20 and 21 in the evening as well as heard over WCBS Saturday evening, February 21.

Prof. Sessions, a member of the Princeton University faculty, has received many tributes for his musical works. Carter Harman, former music editor of Time magazine, calls him "the most important native American composer," and Mark Schubart of the Juilard School of Music in New York says Prof. Sessions has had a "profound" influence on current music.

TRENTONIANS WILL PLAY

Symphony Concert Next Week. The Trenton Symphony Orchestra will give a concert next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the War Memorial Building, Trenton. Guglielmo Sabatini will conduct a program consisting of Brahms' Second Symphony; Wagner's overture to "The Flying Dutchman;" Cesar Franck's symphonic poem, "Redemption," and Richard Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier" waltzes.

The 37-year-old orchestra has made appeals to the Trenton City Commission, the Mercer County Board of Freeholders and the people of Trenton for financial support. Joseph D'Annunzio, president of the Trenton Symphony, has asked contributors to send their donations to the symphony office at 234 E. State Street, Trenton.

MOLTO BENE! Excited and bright-eyed about their new class in English at Valley Road School, these Italian-speaking children gather around their teacher, Mrs. Richard Colman, to see if they can pick up a new word or two. Mrs. Colman teaches entirely in English, with only an occasional instruction in Italian—"ripeta," (repeat), "per piacere," (please), and, most coveted of all, "molte bene!" Rear: Joseph Sferra, Mario de Donato and Maria Gaudiello; front: Tony Cifelli, Madeleine Gaudiello, Roberto Venta, Mrs. Colman, Mario Cifelli and Michael de Donato. "I SPEAK ENGLISH!"

Class for Foreign-Born. She walked across the classroom to the door, her long, wavy brown pony-tail prancing as she walked.

When she reached the door, she closed it, saying as she did so: "I walk to the door. I shut the door. I go back to my seat. I sit down." She spoke softly, almost inaudibly, but her words were sure and her eyes, black as two ripe olives, shone with the pride of her knowledge.

This child belongs to a new class which has been started by Valley Road school for the purpose of teaching English to Italian-born pupils. Actually, any youngster who does not know English can join the class; it happens that all the children are Italian.

Some of them have been in Princeton—and the United States—for about two years. One boy arrived only three weeks ago.

The teacher for the class is Mrs. Richard Colman, who has previously taught English to adults at the Y.W.C.A. Her husband, of course, is Princeton's head football coach.

At present, there are about 11 children in Mrs. Colman's class. They come from homes in Princeton where no English is spoken and they live in neighborhoods where very little is used, so that their chances of "picking up a little English as they go along" are very remote.

As a result of their insulation from the language, they were having trouble in school; the lessons didn't make sense, and if lessons are incomprehensible you get bored and if you are bored, you get into trouble. So Dr. Frank Horonian, Township school psychologist, and John McKenna, principal, asked Mrs. Colman to form a class. She began teaching last November.

Thirsty or Thursday? The children learn by listening to the teacher and repeating what they hear her say—a kind of oral-aural technique. Many of these boys and girls are not readers, even in their own language, so it is easier to teach them by talking to them.

Sentences and questions are tossed back and forth between teacher and pupils: "Is the sun shining today?" "Yes, the sun is shining today."

Some words are hard, like "United." To get her children to say "Younited" instead of "Oonnited," Mrs. Colman has them repeat "I like you", many times, and then she slides them smoothly into "United."

There was difficulty one day about thirst. "Are you thirsty?", asked Mrs. Colman. "Yesterday was Thursday!" the pupil answered triumphantly.

The boys and girls learn immediate, every-day words, like the names of cities and countries, which they will need in class-room work, or the names for household articles. Mrs. Colman brings potatoes, knives and forks in a shopping basket and the children make sentences out of things she pulls from her basket: "We drink coffee from a cup!"

As all beginning linguists do, these boys and girls have certain pronunciation difficulties. Mrs. Colman must watch to see that they do not say "I eat-a the sandwich," or "I eat de sandwich." She will drill them on sentences like, "I go with my brother," to accustom their tongues to the "th" sound.

Most of these children come from the same area (near Naples but there are one or two children from a different part of Italy. They speak a slightly different dialect and this makes things lively in class because two children will sometimes know a different Italian word for the same object. And quite often, the word known to all the children is very different from the "pure" word Mrs. Colman has in her dictionary.

For these boys and girls, English class means the difference between light and darkness. Without a knowledge of English, they are in a dark world (although some of them can grasp arithmetic, even when it's explained in unknown words.) With English, some of them may even have the chance to get through high school.

SCIENCE PANEL PLANNED

Know Your School Program. The Parents Teachers Association of Princeton High School is holding a special education panel on Tuesday at 8. The panel, composed of teachers from the Mathematics and science departments, is part of a larger "Know Your School Program."

Parents will be informed as to the current mathematics and science courses offered to students. The meeting will be held in the social room, and all parents of eighth-graders and up are invited to attend. A question and answer period will follow the panel discussion.

EXCHANGE FELLOWS HERE

For 10-Day Seminar. Seventeen Eisenhower Exchange Fellows, representing as many different free world nations, arrived in Princeton Sunday for a 10-day seminar which will include addresses by educators and businessmen, visits to institutions and discussions with Princeton University faculty members. Established in 1953 by a group of private citizens in honor of President Eisenhower, the fellowship program permits men "who have demonstrated their ability and achievement in the field of their country's greatest need" to spend 10 months in the United States.

Other parts of the program allow qualified Americans to observe developments abroad. The fellowship seminar is being held in Princeton for the fourth successive year. Seminar discussion leaders include Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princton University; Dr. Millicent C. McIntosh, president of Barnard College; Dr. Ralph J. Bunche of the United Nations; Dean J. Douglas Brown, Dean of the Faculty, Princeton University; Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the Institute for Advanced Study; Dr. Gardner Patterson, director of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University, and Dr. William S. Dix, librarian of Princeton University.

The program opened with an undergraduate-directed tour of the University campus on Monday. Evening discussion meetings feature such well-known scholars as Dr. Henry Craft of Columbia University, Dr. Ira Reid of Haverford College and Dr. Lewis Mumford of the University of Pennsylvania.

The seminar will also include field trips to the Institute for Ad-

HOPE CHEST CAMPAIGN SET

To Fight Multiple Sclerosis. A new fund-raising campaign is being planned for the Princeton Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest. Mrs. Thomas C. Roberts, Chairman of Special Gifts, has announced that the new appeal for the fund will be made both to those who have contributed before and to those who have never given.

"Research" Mrs. Roberts explained, "is the one hope of solving the mystery of Multiple Sclerosis. The disease often strikes in the 20 and 30 age group and therefore the need for help increases as savings and income are depleted."

Mrs. Roberts who spoke at a dinner given by the committee said that a Princeton door-to-door march for contributions is planned as well as a benefit dance that will be held at Miss Fine's School on March 14.

Serving with Mrs. Roberts are: Mr. and Mrs. James A. Arnold, Jr., 232 Edgerstoune Road; Mrs. R. W. Ayers, 33 Alison Road; Mrs. Charles C. Davis, Jr., 10 Quaker Road; Mrs. C. G. Lincoln made history with ink and quill pen

The world has changed since the day 150 years ago when Abraham Lincoln was born in a log cabin in Kentucky.

It is difficult to appraise all the advances which even a king could not have in Lincoln's day. You can write for all to read with a Smith-Corona typewriter, electric or manual. You can hear the news of the hour carried through the air by radio — or see Lincoln personified right in your own home through the miracle of television. You can enjoy the great music of all time through stereophonic sound reproduction. You can gain knowledge from the wealth of wisdom contained in books. You can read, not by candlelight as did Lincoln, but by the amazing electric lamp.

All these things and hundreds of other wonders of our modern world were unknown in Lincoln's day. They are available to you now at your Princeton University Store.

Report from THE MAYOR

Thursday Open House. — The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" session will be held on Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. This is a change from the schedule previously announced. The February sessions will be Thursday, February 12; Thursday, February 19; and Wednesday, February 25. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

It seems appropriate to hold this week's open house on February 12; because the 1100 who have dropped by in the past 14 months have given the Mayor a much better understanding of what Mr. Lincoln meant by "government of the people, by the people and for the people."

News From No. 1000. On Friday, December 29, the 1,000th visitor came in to "talk things over." This week the Mayor received a letter from No. 1,000 — who is Dick Hogarty, a Princeton boy now studying at the Institute of Local and State Government at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dick's letter started: "Thought you might be interested to know that we just received some good news from the Institute. I have been awarded an additional $1,500 fellowship on the basis of my first semester performance."

These fellowships are highly competitive. The Princeton Mayor is happy that he helped to steer Dick to the Institute at one of the Thursday sessions early last year. The Plainsboro Mayor is proud because he is Dick's father-in-law!

More Good News. If a stockholder hears the news that his shares are "Down three points," he may be upset. The Borough taxpayer, however, should welcome the news that his "share" in the cost of local government is "Down three points."

That is the word contained in the Borough budget for 1959 introduced at a special meeting of Mayor and Council on Saturday morning. The 1957 local purpose rate was $1.72 per hundred dollars of assessed valuation. The 1958 rate was reduced to $1.68 and the 1959 rate will probably be $1.65 when the final figures are certified.

A Tight Budget. Again this year the Borough budget is a tight one. It has no frills. The budget will be available for public study and a public hearing will be held on Tuesday, March 10, at 8 p.m. at Borough Hall.

At that time a detailed explanation of the budget — with illustrations — will be made. This is a major item in our cost of living. It is hoped that many Borough taxpayers — who are really the stockholders of our local government — will be on hand for the budget discussion.

Cooperation. Borough authorities appreciate the cooperation of Princeton residents who have helped to clear up the very dangerous traffic situation on lower University Place near Alexander Street. The parking pattern had become increasingly hazardous. The motorist who respects the yellow line will be helping to avert a situation that could only have led to tragedy.

A Helpful Report. Thanks, also, to the Joint Recreation Committee and the "ad hoc" sub-committee of the Council of Community Services for their helpful report on the future use of the Witherspoon Community Building. The priorities as outlined by the committee merit the careful study of the Council. They will doubtless form the basis for future policy.

Guest speaker will be Charles E. Shearer Jr., past President of the National Junior Chamber, who will address some 400 Jaycee guests.

Award Chairman Bernard Cooke has announced that a panel of distinguished judges will select the winners from 100 nominees. The candidates who must be between the ages of 21 and 36, are honored for "outstanding service to the community, state, and nation."

The Princeton Bank and Trust Company, celebrating its 125th anniversary, is co-sponsoring the Distinguished Service Awards to further good citizenship.

FIRE PROCEDURE GIVEN

For Princeton Junction. Residents of the Princeton Junction area have been reminded by the Princeton Junction Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 of West Windsor Township of the procedure to be followed in case of fire. The company's telephone number is WA 4-0620. Callers should clearly state the location and type of the fire.

New officers of the company are James Cooper, president; Richard Dearborn, vice-president; James J. Lane, treasurer; Paul Blaney, financial secretary; Fred Ziegler, recording secretary; Walter Dimitruk, correspondence secretary; Richard Ward, Ellwood Pocino and Walter Ellsworth, trustees; Robert J. Servis, fire chief; Jack W. Ainsworth, assistant fire chief, and Roger Holmes, foreman.

FIRE EMBLEMS OFFERED

To Invalids. Chief Kenneth Herrmann of the Griggstown Volunteer Fire Company has announced that fluorescent house emblems are available for homes of invalids and other persons who could not assist themselves in case of fire. The emblems, Chief Herrmann said, will help firemen to rescue such persons.

The free emblems may be obtained from the Fire Company or from Ed Tornquist Sr., the Rev. Joseph Vredenburgh of the Griggstown Reform Church or the Rev. George Aase of the Bunker Hill Lutheran Church. Chief Herrmann also announced that, under new regulations, permits must be obtained by persons who wish to burn brush.

CIVIC LEADERS TO MODEL

For March of Dimes. A blue-ribbon group of business and political leaders, including Mayor Raymond F. Male of Princeton, will be presented as male models in the March of Dimes fashion show on Wednesday evening at Arnold Constable's in Trenton. A list of the 30 models was released by Mrs. Benjamin F. Dean, style show chairman of the March of Dimes.

Included are Mayor Male, who is also president of the State Civil Service Commission; Judge Edmund Z. Potkay, Lawrence Township magistrate; Princeton University junior Robert W. Telander, who is the current Princeton "tiger;" and Philip Ashby of Princeton High School, elected as "King of the Teens-Against-Polio March of Dimes Ball" for 1959.

Grny Ladies are asked to donate 50 hours a year to the work after the capping ceremony.

Those interested in joining should contact Mrs. Dan Davis, Kings Grant Farm, Hopewell, HO6-0696; Mrs. John P. Stout III, Academy Street, Kingston WA4-0985); or American Red Cross headquarters in Princeton.

WORST IN OVER A DECADE: The flash fire that roared through the Shelton Motor Co. service garage last Thursday destroyed nine cars completely, ruined much valuable equipment and left the building a shell. Estimated damage may run close to $100,000, making the blaze the worst in the town's business district since the war-time fire that burned out three stores at Nassau and Tulane. SHELTON'S BURNS

Damage Near $100,000. Fire gutted the Shelton Motor Company at 198 Witherspoon last Thursday afternoon, apparently starting when a drop of gasoline fell on a hot electric light bulb. Officials at the garage reconstruct the beginning of the blaze this way:

Eugene Bullock, 26-year old mechanic, had crawled under a station wagon to investigate a hole in a leaking gas tank. The gasoline had been drained but enough remained to ooze through the hole in the tank. It fell on the droplight that Mr. Bullock was using the bulb ignited it and started the fire.

Mr. Bullock, whose home is at 17 Lytle Street, sustained second-degree burns on his left hand. He was the only person injured in the blaze.

Contrary to early reports, there was no "open" cleaning gasoline in the Shelton premises. The mechanics use a non-inflammable substance for cleaning.

"Tony" Nini, owner of Shelton's, estimates the damage at close to $100,000. Nine cars were completely burned and one was slightly damaged. Four of the automobiles were brand new; one was a company car and the other three were customers' cars.

One of the burned cars had just been purchased by Dr. John B. Clement, 49 Lovers Lane. He arrived at 198 Witherspoon to pick up his new car and found it in flames.

Besides the burned cars, Shelton's lost much valuable equipment. The parts room was completely burned out. Battery, brake and wheel testing equipment and all wall tools were destroyed by the fire.

NEW MAN AT LAHIERE'S

Kane Acquires Interest. Herbert Kane, formerly with Edwards Jewelers, has acquired an interest in Lahiere's Garage. The firm will now be known as Lahiere-Kane, Inc.

Mr. Kane plans a complete remodeling job at the garage on Spring and Tulane Streets. He will display Ramblers in a new showroom which will face Spring Street, and Renaults and Peugeots in the corner showroom on Spring and Tulane.

An important feature of the newly-remodeled quarters will be an imported car "clinic" on Tulane. This will make an "el" with the present service area for domestic cars. The body shop will be moved to 15 Spring.

In addition to the present line of Nash and Renault cars, Lahiere-Kane will carry the British-made Nash Metropolitan.

ENLARGEMENT MADE

Photo Process Expands. Princeton Photo Process, seven years old this month, has enlarged its 11 Witherspoon Street shop. The business has taken over 13 Witherspoon, formerly occupied by Madame Swazy's Beauty Salon, and a door has been cut through connecting the two parts of the shop.

The new move more than doubles the space that the shop has had. The new area will be used for retail sales of artists' and draftsmen's supplies and the old part will be used for actual processing.

Behind the retail counters at 13 Witherspoon, John F. Bliss, one of the owners of Photo Process, is constructing a special camera for mural work. It will blow up line drawings, photographs and maps as large as four by six feet. He expects it to be completed in several weeks.

In the next few months, Photo Process will install bindery equipment for pamphlet and brochure folding, simple wire stitching and paper drilling.

Bank On The Move

The Princeton Bank and Trust Company, which reported deposits of $31,676,867 on December 31, gained 87 places in its standing among the largest banks in the United States during 1958, according to the trade newspaper, "American Banking." The bank is currently ranked 757th in size.

In 1957, the bank was ranked 844th. It has risen 615 places among the United States' 14,000 banks since 1945, when it reported deposits of $11,695,361.

MISSILE CONTRACT AWARD

To General Devices. General Devices, Inc. has been awarded $200,000 to develop part of a complete telemetering instrumentation system. The system will be used to obtain important data on the Air Force's Titan ICBM missile.

The Avco Corporation of Wilmington, Massachusetts, awarded the contract for what is believed to be the most advanced commutation package in use today. According to E. B. Carretson, vice-president of GDI, the system helps obtain information of measurements of strain, temperature and pressure in a giant guidance missile. It is also useful in later calculations involving flight conditions and outer space exploration.

A new addition to the Ridge Road plant of General Devices Inc. will be completed by the end of February and will double manufacturing and development facilities. The expansion will facilitate work on the new telemetering system as well as work on equipment now used in the Atlas and Polaris missiles.

PRINCETONIAN APPOINTED

As RCA Plant Manager. Clifford H. Lane of 47 Locust Lane has been appointed plant manager of the RCA Semiconductor and Materials Division at Somerville.

Born in New York City, Mr. Lane studied at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y. and later joined the RCA Electron Tube Division as Production Engineer in 1941. He advanced steadily, going to the Lancaster, Pa., plant and successively filling various managerial positions. He was Manager of Market Planning, and Industrial Tube Products until his current appointment.

VALUABLE SMALL MAN: Art Klein, three-year veteran on Tiger basketball team, sets up many of high-scoring Tigers' plays.

SPORTS In Princeton

SPECTATORS' WEEKEND

Steady Action Scheduled. Two basketball games which Princeton hopes to use as stepping stones in quest of the Ivy League title and a clash in Baker Rink between the Yale and Princeton hockey teams highlight this weekend's sports schedule. The Tiger quintet faces last-place Columbia Friday at 8 in Dillon Gym and next afternoon at 3 will meet Cornell in a nationally-televised game.

The Tiger skaters are hopeful of trimming Yale on ice in a contest set for 8 p.m. Saturday. Other varsity events with a Princeton setting this weekend include squash against Harvard's strong outfit Saturday at 2 and a wrestling match with Brown that evening at 8. Numerous freshman and junior varsity games are also scheduled, with the high-scoring, unbeaten Class of 1962 basketball team meeting Columbia Friday at 6 in the gymnasium.

Quintet Rolling Merrily. Although there were times at Providence last Friday when the Tiger five was not producing anything more than just enough to trim a punchless Brown quintet, there was good reason for satisfaction with the team's two-game road trip to New England. Cappy Cappon's veteran outfit broke out of its first-half doldrums (Princeton 25, Brown 22, at the intermission) to run up an 11-point lead early in the second half and coast from there.

It was a 61-48 final as Carl Belz caged 20, Art Klein chipped in with 17 and the Tigers won on the strength of more good defensive play. They were called for only 13 personals, drew 22 from Brown and racked up their margin on the foul line when the losers matched their output of 18 field goals. Carl Belz sank a dozen free throws to equal the Princeton mark set six years ago by Fred Tritschler.

There was cause for considerably more optimism at New Haven, where a Yale quintet reinforced by the return of all-Ivy Larry Downs after a six-week layoff with a broken hand was hoping to upset the Tigers. Downs had ended an eight-game Eli losing streak by leading the Blue to victories over Harvard and Penn.

The Bulldog ace tossed in 15 points in the first half and 25 on the evening, but Jim Brongan was a shade better. The Tigers' leading scorer caged 20 in the first half and 26 on the evening—Yale switching from a zone to man to man as the only way of holding him in check.

When Carl Belz outplayed 6-10 Gerry Glynn, Yale center, and both Joe Burns and Herm Belz had good nights, the Orange and Black won without difficulty. Carl got 19 points, despite the fact that he was withdrawn for a time in the second half when he picked up his fourth personal, and Burns and Herm Belz added to the winning total with 14 and 12.

It was extremely close during the first ten minutes, Yale twice holding a one-point lead and then latching on to an 18-all tie. In the next six minutes, however, the Tigers jammed 27 points through the hoop while holding the home team to eight. The resultant 19-point lead was all they needed; it was 49-31 at the half and their margin throughout the second period ranged from 15 to 20 points. The 78-63 final was the Tigers' ninth straight and they are now a fine 13-3 on the season.

Dartmouth Series Looms. Although both teams have a home game left that could cause them trouble (and Princeton must play Harvard at Cambridge the night before it meets Dartmouth), the Indians and Tigers may become the first teams in Ivy history to clash with identical 10-0 marks. The first meeting between the two is set for Hanover on Saturday, February 20; the return game for Dillon Gym on Friday, February 27.

Cornell, bolstered by the return

Tigers On TV

The first nationally-televised sports event from Dillon Gymnasium will be seen Saturday afternoon when Princeton meets Cornell in an Ivy League basketball game. The contest may be seen over the NBC network, Channel 4, starting at 3:05.

One of a series of coast-to-coast telecasts of college basketball games this winter, the Ivy encounter will send the first-place Tigers against a Cornell quintet that is seventh in the standings but still potentially dangerous. In contrast to the acrobatic acts, folk dances, clowns and similar forms of collegiate atmosphere purveyed from other campuses at half-time, Princeton will offer music. A combined close-harmony group of Nassoons and Tigertones will sing during the intermission.

of Dave Zornow, who had left the team to study for exams when the Tigers went to Ithaca last month, has the potential to give the Tigers trouble on Saturday. The Red very nearly upended Dartmouth last week, losing by only two points in overtime.

Captain Lou Jordan hit for 33 while the Tigers were bringing home a 66-52 triumph and any kind of repeat performance that is given better support by his teammates could bother Princeton. In addition to Zornow, 6-7 George Farley, Bill Sullivan and Ron Ivkovich are the chief Cornell operatives.

Columbia has lost 16 games in a row, absorbing a 95-55 wallop-ing last Saturday at Dartmouth's hands. Murray Melton is the Lions' chief threat, and the New Yorkers feel that if he had been available when they played Princeton in New York, they might have rigged the season's biggest upset. Without him, Columbia lost by only nine (75-66) in the Tigers' poorest defensive performance of the season.

HOCKEY TEAM HOPEFUL

That Corner Is Turned. After losing 11 of its first 12 games this season, Princeton's hockey team has won three in a row to complete its best week since the 1955-56 outfit compiled a good 12-9 record. The 4-3 and 4-1 triumphs over Middlebury and Army (recorded in last week's issue) were followed by a 6-1 Ivy win over Cornell at Ithaca.

Hugh Scott, from whom the Ithacans will hear more in a tail-back capacity, turned the hat trick against the Red with three goals. Captain Mo Cheston was credited with four assists and added a goal; John McBride, scoring leader, and Tony Pell were credited with the others.

The Ithacans stayed even throughout an unimpressive first period, scoring first and yielding only a goal to McBride. Three more Princeton tallies were registered in the second period, however, as the Tigers began to outshoot Cornell in steady fashion.

Improved defensive play has marked all three of the Princeton triumphs, with Cheston and sophomore George Morris showing to particular advantage. They were the only defensemen used at Ithaca, but hopes are that Tom Campbell and Perry Hall will be available again in the immediate future.

Brown was on tap Wednesday night (too late for inclusion in this week's issue), with Yale's annual invasion set for Saturday. The Tigers are aiming to move up on these two teams, but Harvard and Dartmouth — the latter leading the league — are figured to be more than the rest of the pack can handle.

THE COOK BROTHERS

Pete, Johnny and Steve

The story is told of a very young boy who was seen skating in figure 8's with considerable ease. Complimented on his ability at such an early age, he managed only a quiet smile but his older sister piped up: "He can skate all right, mister; he just can't talk yet."

The anecdote might well apply to all three of the hockey-playing Cook brothers, each of whom is a stand-out on his team this season after familiarity with the ice from early boyhood. Pete, 19, and a junior at Princeton, centers the Tigers' first line, while Johnny, 17, is co-captain of one of Exeter's best teams in the past decade. Election of 14-year-old Steve to head Princeton Country Day School's good sextet gives this Kingston family a second captain in the same season.

A sizeable share of the Princeton varsity's recent resurgence is traceable to Pete's direction of play as pivotman on the starting line. On the three-game road trip that nearly saw rugged Rensselaer Poly upset and then was marked by clear-cut victories over Middlebury and Army, Pete was the Tigers' top offensive threat, getting three goals and four assists.

Neither size nor unusual speed are in Pete's favor; rather, he is good because he thinks hockey as it should be played. Time and again, his long training on skates and his willingness to heed his coaching father's advice ("Hustle, hustle, hustle!") have resulted in his being in the right place at the right time.

In the past fortnight, Exeter's sharpshooting skaters have three times ridden to victory on the wings of successive hat tricks credited to Johnny Cook. The second batch of three goals he manufactured in one game brought the New Hampshire sextet its first victory in ten years over perennially powerful Belmont Hill, a keystone in the Grenter Boston hockey factory.

A fellow Country Day alumnus of Johnny's, now at another New England prep school, was asked how his team would fare this winter. "We'll be okay, but nothing spectacular," was the reply. "We haven't got a really top player like Johnny Cook to look up to."

None of the family ability to take charge of a close game is missing in the youngest member of the trio. Steve began his career as PCD captain by accounting for five goals against Lawrenceville's juniors, later was credited with three in the 6 a.m. game played against Kent School and a pair in the well-deserved victory over New Canaan. Men who have coached all three brothers at the same age report that Steve at 14 "is every bit as good as Pete and Johnny were."

Next year, St. Mark's will benefit from his steadily improving performances, while Johnny heads for Princeton. Regrettably, the Cook brothers are just far enough apart in age so that they will never be on a varsity squad here together, but that happenstance is hardly cause for complaint. Of far greater import is the picturesque and valuable play these three invariably contribute to the sport—the reward for making sure that what's worth doing is worth doing well.

The revived St. Nicholas Hockey Club will be here for a game Tuesday night at 8. The organization of former College stars flourished for many years, ran out of funds shortly after World War II and has now been reactivated. Princeton has not played the St. Nicks since 1950.

TWO GAMES FOR PHS

Hamilton, Lawrenceville on Tap. A pair of well-regarded Mercer County opponents, Hamilton High and Lawrenceville, are next on the schedule for Princeton High School's basketball team. Hamilton will be here this Friday at 3:30, while the Red and Black of Lawrenceville will be on the PHS court Wednesday at the same hour.

The Lawrentian quintet is paced by Captain Pres Seckle, who hit for 30 points in its most recent victory, a 58-46 decision over Haverford School. The visitors will be seeking to reach the break-even point at the Little Tigers' expense, since a triumph would level them out at 6-6.

Princeton High dropped its sixth in a row last week when it could produce only one player in double figures and lost to Bordentown Military. The final score of the game, played on the victors' court, was 55-36.

A 16-8 margin that B.M.I. ran up in the first period provided all the margin the home team needed. The Little Tigers cut their deficit slightly at half-time, trailing 24-18 and stayed even with the opposition during the third quarter, when both quintets scored 11 points.

In the final round, B.M.I. caged 20 points while holding the losers to seven. Jim Barbour was high for Princeton High with 11. Tony Boccanfuso, recovered from a

For New Jersey Women's Title. A three-day tournament will start this Thursday for the New Jersey Women's Squash Championship. Players from several States in this country and eight members of the women's team from Great Britain are entered.

Mrs. W. Pepper Constable is the defending champion in the event, to be staged at the Pretty Brook Club. The finals will take place on Saturday.

BOWLING NOTES

Tie In Fire Loop. Princeton Junction won three in a row last week to make up a two-match deficit and go into an 18-18 tie with Princeton Engine Company No. 1 in the Tri-County Firemen's League race at Princeton Recreation Center. Lawrence Road, with 16 wins, continued to keep the loop in a three-cornered contest. Bill Whaley recorded a 225 for the league's top individual performance of the week.

In the Industrial League, where second half play has just begun, Wengryn Construction, with six triumphs, holds a one match margin over Nassau Del. Maier & Baldwin, victors in the first round, recorded four wins for a third-place deadlock with Crescents. Individual standouts were Ralph Kleiber, 220; Joe DeCicco, 208; Walt Wengryn, 200 and 204; John Maier, 204; and Bill Dunhie, 203.

News Of The CHURCHES

KNOW YOUR PASTOR
(17th in a Series)

Meet Dr. Rizzo. "I like a diversified life. I like to do different things, to start new enterprises and to launch new projects."

The speaker is Dr. Samuel S. Rizzo, pastor of Rosedale Chapel, Carter Road. The Chapel itself is one of Dr. Rizzo's "new" enterprises because it was an abandoned dilapidated structure without a congregation when he took it over in 1952.

In the years since then, the picturesque little country chapel has acquired a new roof, new gutters, new furnace, new plumbing, new kitchen. And almost all of it completely paid for. Next project: to renovate the Sanctuary.

"When I first drove by Rosedale," Dr. Rizzo muses, "I was searching for a church. I had started a church in 1930 in Newark and had preached there for 17 years, and I was lost without preaching.

The Rosedale trustees were planning to dispose of the Chapel, but I asked them if I could be their volunteer preacher and they agreed. Now we have about 30 adults in our congregation and a growing Sunday school — about 30 kids, I should say."

The church that Dr. Rizzo started in Newark was a bi-lingual one, St. Paul's Presbyterian. Dr. Rizzo, born in Sao Paolo, Brazil and educated in a Seminary in Brazil, felt that a Portuguese-English church was needed in Newark. (The congregation of St. Paul's has produced four ministers in 17 years.)

In the years before coming to Rosedale as minister, Dr. Rizzo taught here and abroad. He was Field Secretary for Evangelical work in Spain and Portugal and while in Portugal, he organized the Lisbon Seminary, "another of my 'new enterprises'," the soft-spoken pastor recalls.

He also lectured at the Bossey Institute in Geneva on missions in Latin America and while he was in Geneva he became friends with a young interpreter named John Bodo who translated Dr. Rizzo's remarks into German.

"Want to Go to Brazil?" Dr. Bodo, First Presbyterian Church pastor, figures in another part of Dr. Rizzo's life story. Appointed by the Brazilian government as its first resident professor of Brazilian Studies at New York University, Dr. Rizzo was scheduled to go to Brazil in 1955.

One day he met Dr. Bodo in the Princeton postoffice, and he said to him casually, "How about going to Brazil?" "Why, I can't possibly . . ." Dr. Bodo began.

But before the week was out, John Bodo and Samuel Rizzo were on a plane together headed for Brazil, and under Dr. Bodo's arm was an assignment to prepare a thesis on Brazil as a field for independent academic studies — the ostensible reason for him to make the trip as Dr. Rizzo's companion.

Dr. Rizzo, who taught Spanish and Latin at Hun School, and who has taught Latin American history at N.Y.U., is no longer a teacher.

"I would much rather preach than teach," he says. "Preaching is much more creative. You don't have to keep repeating fundamentals to freshmen!"

Dr. Rizzo is an official representative of the Vargas Foundation, raising money for the Foundation and for the Brazilian Institute at N.Y.U. He makes frequent trips to Brazil and to other Latin American countries, and these are pleasure jaunts as well as business trips because Dr. Rizzo still has two brothers living in Brazil.

A gifted linguist, the Rosedale pastor speaks Portuguese, English, German, Spanish and French. He took his doctor's degree in French, and he recalls with a smile that one of his most humiliating experiences was the discovery that his 13-year-old daughter could speak with French taxi drivers more fluently than he could.

THE GOOD LIFE: Dr. Samuel S. Rizzo likes the diversified life of preacher, fund-raiser, shepherd of a flock and eater of good food. "I like to eat my wife's good cooking," says Brazilian-born pastor of Rosedale Chapel. Mrs. Rizzo cooks for him from her file of 50,000 recipes, collected from the two-dozen countries the Rizzos have visited. The pastor's wife is well known to Princeton hostesses who serve her home-cooked foods. (Town Topics Photo by A. Richards)

PCD SKATERS WIN 5-0

Top Lawrenceville Juniors. A four-goal outburst in the second period Friday gave Princeton Country Day School's hockey team its second victory of the season over the Lawrenceville Juniors. The Blue and White took the contest, played in Baker Rink, 5 to 0.

Robbie Carrick caged three goals for the victors. Captain Steve Cook and Charlie Stuart both scored once and added an assist apiece. The triumph raised the PCD mark to 4-1 for the season.

The Country Day basketball team met with less success, losing three times during the past week. Witherspoon School took its measure, 31-20; Valley Road won, 36-18; and Lawrence Junior High captured a one-sided contest, 47 to 20.

"Sorry Tax Mess"

Lack of leadership is causing a "sorry tax mess" in this State, according to Dr. Paul Strayer, who spoke before the New Jersey Education Association in Trenton. Dr. Strayer, a member of the Department of Economics at Princeton, bewailed the fact that the primary tax burden falls on the "property" taxpayer instead of on the personal income or sales tax. Refusal to recommend any "politically unacceptable" tax on the part of Governor Meyner and the Tax Commission, he said, has resulted in a bad tax system.

Dr. Strayer outlined major needs in the State's Institutions and Agencies department, including more nurses and doctors, and state need for long-range planning. He called for higher salaries for civil service employees, an immediate revision of the State's tax system, and repeal of the tax on household goods and inventories.

He also felt the necessity for increased financial support of education. He used in example, Rutgers, (the State University), whose tuition he feels is too high and therefore prevents qualified students from continuing their studies.

CHEERY COTTAGE
for $21,000

Though this little white house looks like a cottage from the outside, it is surprisingly roomy inside. The good-sized living room has a fireplace and roomy dining area (should you want to use the present dining room for another bedroom, playroom, what-have-you—a first floor bath makes the former quite practical.) On the second floor are three more sunny bedrooms and a bath. The kitchen is small but well-planned, and an enclosed back porch or mudroom makes good spillover space for laundry, snowsuits, etc. A pretty fenced lot against a wooded background, plus a near-school location, add to the family appeal of the house.
